Peter Brant

BRANT Foundation

In September 2015 the Brant Foundation hosted children from New York's Department of Homeless Services for a day of art-making, part of the city's Free Arts NYC's program to combat negative effects of poverty through the positive effects of arts education.

It's no surprise that businessman Peter Brant, an avid collector and advocate for the arts, established a foundation that focuses on just that. The Brant Foundation was created in 1996 with the goal of giving back to the community by promoting education and appreciation of contemporary art and design. The organization makes artwork available to institutions and individuals for scholarly study, examinations, and loan through the Brant Foundation Art Study Center, all with the hopes of inspiring the next would-be artist, academic scholar, or soon-to-be collector. The foundation itself lends works to more than a dozen exhibitions a year.
